PREFATORY NOTE.

IT was not intended to make a complete collection of Italian Folk-songs, but merely to present some of the best and most typical from the various provinces. In pursuance of this aim, traditional songs have been included wherever such were procurable; when they were not to be had, songs of a more modern character have been introduced, but only such as have become genuinely and deservedly popular among all classes.

For details concerning the several songs, the reader is referred to the Notes at the beginning of the work.

THE EDITOR.

NOTES

- No. 1. La Savoyarde. (The Savoyarde.) Savoy, although at present one of the departments of France, was the cradle of the House of Savoy, the present Kings of Italy, and originally belonged to the Kingdom of Piedmont. As geographically it is naturally a part of Italy, its folk-music should have a place in this Collection.
The accompaniment to this song has been very cleverly adapted by Heinrich Reimann, in imitation of the hurdy-gurdy, a very ancient instrument used by wandering Savoyards.
- No. 2. Dona Lombarda is considered one of the oldest, if not the oldest, of known folk-songs. Versions of the same words with different music are found in almost every country of Europe.
Two versions of the music are given here, one from Piedmont, the other from Istria (the Italian Tyrol). (It is through the kindness of Mr. H. E. Krehbiel that we have been enabled to include in this collection the very characteristic songs, Nos. 2 and 3.)
- No. 3. L'avvelenato (The Poisoned Lover) is another version of Dona Lombarda; the story of the eel (or snake) by means of which the poisoning was done, in a different form.
- Nos. 4-9. Some of these songs from Lombardy have elaborate accompaniments, more so, perhaps, than is in keeping with folk-music; but the melodies have been respected as far as possible, even if somewhat altered as to rhythm and form.
- No. 10. La Biondina di Voghera. (The Fair Maid of Voghera.) Voghera is a town of Lombardy, near Milan. The melody of this song was introduced by Donizetti in his opera L'Elisir d'Amore.
- Nos. 11 to 14. The accompaniments to these songs were arranged by A. P. Berggreen. The great charm of Venetian folk-music lies in its simplicity and grace.
- No. 15. La Rondinella. (The Swallow.) The Italian poem of this song is to be found in the celebrated novel "Marco Visconti," by Grossi. Petrella wrote another melody to these words in his opera Marco Visconti.
- No. 16. L'Addio del Volontario. (The Volunteer's Farewell.) This is a modern song, and became so popular in Tuscany and throughout all Italy, during the revolution of 1859, as now to be considered a folk-song.
- No. 17. La Barchetta (The Little Boat), also a modern song, but like a folk-song in character. Probably from the beginning of the last century.
- No. 18. Giulia gentil (Fair Julia) won extraordinary popularity through all Italy, also during the revolutionary period, 1859-60, — being sung by Garibaldi's volunteers.
- Nos. 19-21. These songs are by Gordigiani (the Italian Schubert). He succeeded so well in imitating the character and the spirit of the folk-music of Tuscany, that now his music is sung by the people just as much as the folk-songs.
- No. 22. La Treccia Bionda (The Flaxen Tress), transcribed by Filippo Marchetti, has also been called "La Livornese"; but the most accurate researches have settled that it is Romanesca (from the Romagna).
- No. 23. Er Passagallo (The Improvisatore) is the name given to the extemporaneous poets who go about the streets in Trastevere (Rome), and like their confrères in Naples, who are called Rinaldo, improvising on the history of Rome; — of course very crudely, and twisting it to suit their purpose. It is almost impossible to give the rhythm of this song. They generally go very fast, and slacken the time according to the words and the facility which they have in improvising.
- No. 24. Piuriuri, ti vo' sposa. (Piuriuri, I'd marry you!) The refrain piuriuri cannot be translated. In all parts of Italy they have some of these intercalari (burdens, refrains) which are repeated in the middle of their folk-songs, and are typical of the different regions (provinces).
- No. 25. Coraggio, ben mio. (My darling, be brave.) This song, although popular and traditional, does not present the characteristics of a folk-song.
- No. 27. Fatte la nonna. (Lullaby). The religious sentiment which predominates in this song makes it quite typical of the education of the people in this part of Italy, where the domination of the priests has been of so long standing.
- No. 28. La Monacella. (The Young Nun.) Another version of this song is popular in Naples also. The words and the music differ somewhat, but the idea is the same.
- No. 29. Il Sor Carlo l'armonico. (The Musical Master Charley.) Sor is the Roman for Signor (Mister). The idea of this Sor Carlo following the band, and getting into trouble by being tripped by fighting dogs, is very comical. Evidently the music of the song was inspired by some well-known march.

- No. 30. Canzone di Campagnuolo. (Peasant's Song.) The ideas in this song are very poetical, although expressed in the words of a peasant; and the music, in its plaintive mood, is very descriptive of the sentiments that inspired it.
- Nos. 31-35. These fine folk-songs from the Abruzzi are beautifully transcribed by F. Paolo Tosti, himself a native of that region, the accompaniments being especially characteristic and elegant. The remarks about the refrain to No. 24, apply equally to la gnicche, la gnocche, etc., in the song "Dammi un ricciolo dei capelli."
- No. 36. Antonìa. Rather than a song, this might be called a Ritornello (refrain) It is especially attractive for the brightness of its music and the spirit of its words.
- No. 37. Fenesta vascia (The Low Window) is probably very old, judging by its name, Calascionata, which means a song accompanied on the Calascione, a species of large lute.
- No. 38. La Monacella. (The Young Nun.) Evidently this is the original song; the one sung in Rome being a variant of it.
- No. 39. Michelemmà. One of the oldest folk-songs of Naples, probably first composed or sung about 1600. By some it is attributed to Salvator Rosa.
- No. 40. Fenesta che lucivi. This most beautiful melody is said to be the composition of Bellini. It is certain, however, that if he did not write it, this song gave him the inspiration for several of the melodies in his early operas.
- No. 41. Cicerenella. The rhythm of this song is typical of the Tarantella, the national dance of Naples; the minor key being always used for this dance-music.
- No. 42. La Luisella. A very pretty and graceful song, much like Neapolitan music in style.
- No. 43. La Vera Sorrentina. (The Real Maid of Sorrento) At the time of the feast of Piedigrotta, the great Neapolitan holiday during the old régime, the troops went on parade to escort the King on his visit to the Church of Piedigrotta. The description of the storm, and of all the troubles that the Sorrentina caused the poor sailor, is especially attractive.
- No. 44. Santa Lucia. No comments need be made on this song, which, from its having been carried everywhere by itinerant musicians, has become almost a folk-song of all nations. This explains why the gondoliers on the Laguna consider it their own, as much as the fishermen in Naples.
- No. 45. La Carolina. A song similar to La Luisella in spirit, although quite different in rhythm.
- No. 46. La Fiera de Mas' Andrea. Another of the very old songs of Naples. It is not likely that Salvator Rosa composed it, but the second idea of it reminds slightly of a musical fragment by that celebrated painter, poet, and musician.
- No. 47. Trippole, trappole. Considered of Spanish origin, probably on account of the rhythm and style, which perhaps is the case with many of the old Neapolitan songs. The reason is easily seen, from the fact that Naples was under Spanish rule for several centuries.
- No. 48. Lavandare. This is also a refrain, and is very popular with the local washerwomen, a great majority of whom at one time resided in the village of Vomero, which is situated on the hill above Naples.
- No. 49. I Zampognari. (The Bagpipers.) They come to Naples from the mountains of Abruzzi at Christmas-tide, and go about from house to house playing and singing before the image of the Holy Infant during the Novena (the nine days before Christmas). There are generally two, who go together, one playing the bagpipe, the other a species of small clarinet called Ciaramella. The music which is given here is played by them with some little change, and while the bagpiper continues the accompaniment, the one who plays the clarinet stops to sing the different stanzas of this Pastorale. It is particularly interesting from the pastoral character of the music and the beautiful poetical ideas of the words. In all probability the melody suggested to Händel the theme of his pastorelle in The Messiah.
- No. 50. La Festa di Piedigrotta. Here again the festival of Piedigrotta supplies the subject for a lovely song. It was, and still is, the custom of the people of Naples and the neighborhood to go to the shrine of the Madonna (in whose honor the celebration took place) on the eve of the 8th of September. A great many of the young people go there singing the new songs, and playing on the different instruments with which they accompany the Tarantella—such as tambourines, castanets, and tric' à ballà (a wooden device in the shape of two or three hammers with handles joined together, which they strike to mark the rhythm of the dance).
- No. 51. A Ischia, etc. Ischia is an island in the bay of Naples, where some of the peasants make their living by plaiting straw-goods, especially fans. Marano, a village, is famous for its strawberries and cherries; Capri, another island in the same bay, is overrun with quails at the time of their transit to and from Africa, where they breed; at Massa they make a specialty of cream cheese,—which explains all the similes given in this song. Nfrunchete, nfrunchete, is the usual refrain, that cannot be translated, and which in this instance imitates the sound of string-instruments.
- No. 52. La Capuana. This plaintive cantilena is supposed to be from Capua, a city near Naples.

- No. 53. Canzone di Somma (Song of Somma); so called because, perhaps, it refers to some girls in that village. Somma is on the slope of the extinct volcano of that name, near Vesuvius.
- Nos. 54-56. The spirit of revenge, inborn in the Calabrian people, is well expressed in the Catanzarese, while the Scillitana is full of passion, and the Calavresella dainty, and simple in sentiment. The music of the first two has a leaning toward the weird and mournful, which is typical of the Sicilian, and has some of the character of Neapolitan song; it is generally written in the minor mode. Calabria is between Naples and Sicily, and resembles both in the style of its folk-music.
- No. 57. Canzone di li Carriteri. (The Waggoners' Song.) The refrain Toinella toi nai, etc., is peculiar to the Sicilians, and is found in many of their folk-songs.
- No. 58. Alla Fontana. (By the Spring.) Another Ritornello with chorus-accompaniment; the refrain Toinella toinà being similar to the above.
- No. 59. Lu labbru. (The Lips.) The words of this song are by the celebrated Sicilian dialect poet Abbé Mele. They are very beautiful, and the music, although somewhat modern, has all the characteristics of Sicilian folk-music.
- No. 60. Canto del Carcerato. (The Prisoner's Song.) This cantilena is extremely pretty. Its weird style shows the influence of Arab music. The Sicilians are geographically neighbors of the Arabs, and at one time their island was overrun by the Saracens.
- No. 61. Serenata. (Serenade.) Again another Ritornello, rather than a real song. Especially characteristic of Arabic origin in the interval from d flat to b natural, which occurs twice.
- No. 63. Amuri, amuri. (O Love, O Love.) Refrain sung by the muleteers.
- No. 64. Malatu p'amuri. (Ill for Love.) A pathetic melody in the minor mode — very peculiar for its chromatic descending scale — another strong proof of Arabic influence.
- No. 65. Canto de' Contadini Etnai. Song of the Peasants from the neighborhood of Mount Etna. — The "ngùà, ngùà" is the sound by which they imitate the cry of an infant, in their dialect.

DONA LOMBARDA.

Ameime mi, Dona Lombarda,
 Ameime mi, ameime mi!
 O cume mai volì che fassa,
 Che j'ò'l mari, che j'ò'l mari?
 Vostro mari, Dona Lombarda,
 Feilo mürì, feilo mürì!
 O cume mai volì che fassa
 Felo mürì, felo mürì?
 Mi v'mostrero d'una manera
 D'felo mürì, d'felo mürì.
 Ant'el giardin darè la caza
 J'è un serpentìn, j'è un serpentìn,
 Preje la testa e poi pisteila,
 Pisteila bin, pisteila bin,
 E poi büteila ant'el vin neiro,
 Dèjè da bei, dèjè da bei,
 Che'l voss mari ven da la cassa
 Cun tanta sei, cun tanta sei.

Dei-me del vin, Dona Lombarda,
 J'ò tanta sei, j'ò tanta sei.
 Coz' j'èive fait, Dona Lombarda,
 L'sè anturbidì, l'sè anturbidì?
 El veint marin de l'aùtra sera
 L'à anturbidì, l'à anturbidì.
 Beivelo ti, Dona Lombarda,
 Beivelo ti, beivelo ti!
 O cume mai volì che fassa,
 Che j'ò nin sei, che j'ò nin sei?
 L'è per la punta de la mia speja
 T'lo beverei, t'lo beverei!

La prima gussa ch'a n'à beivüine,
 Dona Lombarda cambia colür;
 La sgunda gussa ch'a n'à beivüine,
 Dona Lombarda ciama'l consur;
 La terza gussa ch'a n'à beivüine,
 Dona Lombarda ciama'l sottrur!

DONNA LOMBARDA.

Give me your love, Donna Lombarda,
 Do not deny, do not deny!
 How do you think that I may love you?
 Wedded am I, wedded am I!
 What of your spouse, Donna Lombarda!
 See that he die, see that he die!
 What shall I ever do to kill him!
 How shall he die? how shall he die?
 Oh, I will show you how to kill him,
 How he shall die, how he shall die!
 Back of your house there, in the garden,
 There is a snake, there is a snake,
 Put the snake's head into a mortar,
 Powder to make, powder to make.
 Into your husband's wine you'll pour it,
 Into his wine, into his wine,
 When he comes home at night from hunting
 Thirsty for wine, thirsty for wine.

Give me some wine, Donna Lombarda,
 Thirsty am I, thirsty am I!
 What have you done, Donna Lombarda?
 Cloudy? for why? cloudy? for why?
 Yesterday eve the sea-wind roil'd it,
 Wind of the sea, wind of the sea!
 Drink to my health, Donna Lombarda,
 Drink you to me, drink you to me!
 Why should I drink, I pray you, tell me!
 Thirst I have none, thirst I have none!
 Now, by my dagger's point, I tell you,
 Drink and be done! drink and be done!

When the first drop of wine she tasted,
 Donna Lombarda's color 'gan waste.
 After the second drop she tasted,
 For the confessor sent she in haste.
 After the third drop of wine she tasted,
 For the gravedigger she sent at last.

Cari putti, a gogolar,
Per pietà no deghe fede,

1.

Oh, my children, if you ever
Look on Love while he's at play,
Never stop to hear him, never!
Or caress him on your way.
Not a mouth so sweetly smiling,
Not a face that's so beguiling:
Tho' his lips are wreath'd in laughter,
He will stab you to the heart a minute after;
Like a thousand pointed arrows
His caresses pierce your marrows,
[:Till the rogue has caught his prey.:]

Have I told you how he caught me
When he gave my heart this wound?
How he slily creeping sought me
Like a cat upon the ground?
I was list'ning to a story
That Ninetta was relating,
And I never thought to worry,
For I did not see him waiting:
Then he softly came behind me,
And so tightly he did bind me,

4.

Wert thou of Gipsy origin,
 Or born of lineage royal,
 My heart would still be loyal,
 And think of thee as "ti!"

5.

Howe'er disguised thy form were,
 However strange appearing,
 Whatever garments wearing, —
 Whose, I will not say here:

6.

If thou unseen wert near me,
 Tho' no sign might reveal it,
 Yet I should surely feel it,
 That thou, my love, wert near.

7.

And if thou art an angel fair,
 New-fallen from some star there,
 When mounting up afar there,
 Then with thee, dear, take me.

8.

|:But if thou art a woman, dear,
 Ah, come and sit beside me,
 Then o'er the water glide we:
 Oh joy, to fly with thee!:]

LA RONDINELLA.

Rondinella pellegrina,
 Che ti posi sul verone,
 Ricantando ogni mattina
 Quella flebile canzone,
 |: Che vuoi dirmi in tua favella,
 Pellegrina rondinella?:|

2.

Solitaria nell'oblio,
 Dal tuo sposo abbandonata,
 Piangi forse al pianto mio
 Vedovetta sconsolata?
 |: Piangi, piangi, in tua favella,
 Pellegrina rondinella.:|

3.

Pur di me manco infelice
 Tu alle penne almen t'affidi,
 Scorri il lago, e la pendice,
 Empi l'aria de tuoi gridi,
 |: Tutto il giorno in tua favella
 Lui chiamando, o rondinella!:

4.

Oh se anch'io!... Ma lo contende
 Questa bassa angusta volta,
 Dove'l sole non risplende,
 Dove l'aria ancor m'è tolta,
 |: D'onde a te la mia favella
 Giunge appena, o rondinella.:|

5.

Il Settembre innanzi viene
 E a lasciarmi ti prepari:
 Tu vedrai lontane arene,
 Nuovi monti, nuovi mari,
 |: Salutando in tua favella,
 Pellegrina rondinella.:|

6.

Ed io tutte le mattine
 Riaprendo gli occhi al pianto,
 Fra le nevi e fra le brine
 Crederò d'udir quel canto,
 |: Onde par che in tua favella
 Mi compiangi, o rondinella.:|

7.

Una croce a primavera
 Troverai su questo suolo:
 Rondinella, in su la sera
 Sovra lei raccogli il volo;
 |: Dimmi pace in tua favella,
 Pellegrina rondinella.:|

THE SWALLOW.

1.

Pilgrim swallow, lightly winging,
 Now upon the terrace sitting,
 Ev'ry morn I hear thee singing
 In sad tones thy song repeating.
 |: What may be the tale thou'rt telling,
 Pilgrim swallow, near my dwelling?:|

2.

In thy solitude abandoned,
 By thy mate perchance forsaken,
 Dost thou weep to see me weeping,
 Gentle widow all heartbroken?
 |: From thy tears relief I borrow,
 Weep then, weep, thou pilgrim swallow.:|

3.

Thou art happier far than I am,
 On free wing at least thou'rt flying;
 Over lake and breezy mountain,
 Thou canst fill the air with crying
 |: His dear name through cave and hollow:
 Thou art free, thou pretty swallow.:|

4.

Were I free! — but 't is denied me —
 This low roof my soul confineth,
 E'en of air they have deprived me,
 Here the bright sun never shineth;
 |: From this murky dungeon hollow
 Scarce my words can reach thee, swallow!:

5.

Soon September will be coming,
 Soon wilt thou prepare for leaving,
 To far shores wilt thou be roaming,
 O'er new seas and mountains cleaving.
 |: O, thy flight could I but follow! —
 Greet them for me, pilgrim swallow!:

6.

Here then ev'ry morn awaking,
 In mine eyes will tears be springing,
 'Mid the snow and frost so chilling
 I shall deem I hear thee singing;
 |: And 't will seem that in thy ditty
 Thou art fain to tell thy pity.:|

7.

In the spring a cross so lonely
 On this soil wilt thou find planted;
 Swallow, in the shades of evening
 Let my last poor wish be granted:
 |: Circle round my narrow dwelling,
 While thy song of peace is telling.:

LA BARCHETTA.

La barchetta che scorre sull'onde
 S'avvicina portando il mio bene :
 O contento ! finiscon le pene,
 Fra brev'ora il mio amor rivedrò !
 | : Vien t'affretta ad arrivar,
 La la ra la la !
 Che t'aspetto in riva al mar,
 La la ra la la ! : |

2.

Egli riede ricolmo d'onori,
 Conquistati sul campo di gloria,
 Là qual prode il guidò la vittoria,
 Qui al mio fianco l'adduce l'amor.
 Vien t'affretta, ecc.

3.

Voga, voga oh barchetta veloce,
 Sopra l'alghe del placido mare :
 Corri, vola, non far più penare
 Quest'afflitta che tanto sperò !
 Vien t'affretta, ecc.

4.

Gli dirò del mio pianto versato,
 Dell'affanno che opprime il mio core,
 Poi fra i baci d'un tenero amore
 Ogni traccia di duol sparirà.
 Vien t'affretta, ecc.

5.

Gli dirò delle notti vegliate
 Fra i sospiri d'un lungo tormento,
 Poi stringendolo al sen dal contento
 Il mio cor, sul suo cor poserà .
 Vien t'affretta, ecc.

THE LITTLE BOAT.

Now the vessel that flies o'er the billow
 Is approaching, and brings home my lover ;
 O what joy ! soon all pain will be over,
 Soon again my true love I shall see !
 | : Swiftly bring him back once more,
 La la ra la la !
 I await him on the shore,
 La la ra la la ! : |

2.

He returns now with proud honors laden,
 From the field where so bravely he bore him,
 Vict'ry pointed the way there before him,
 But 'tis love guides him hither to me.
 Swiftly bring him back once more, etc.

3.

Row then, row, happy vessel, so swiftly
 O'er the weeds of the bright tranquil ocean,
 Fly then, fly then and calm this emotion
 Of a mourner, and blest let me be.
 Swiftly bring him back once more, etc.

4.

I will tell him of tears I shed for him,
 How my heart was oppress'd with its sorrow,
 Love's caresses shall soothe me to-morrow,
 And all traces of grief disappear.
 Swiftly bring him back once more, etc.

5.

I will tell him of nights robb'd of slumber,
 Pass'd in sighs, and with terror tormented ;
 With his presence so dear well-contented,
 Then my heart will repose free from fear.
 Swiftly bring him back once more, etc.

I.

UOMO.

Giulia gentil dal bel color,
 Ah tu non sai che sia l'amor,
 Ma forse un dì ti batta il cuor,
 Allor saprai che sia l'amor.
 Ah schiudi ai palpiti d'amor,
 Giulia gentile, il tuo bel cor,
 E non volere, o bel tesoro,
 Vedermi morto dal dolor.
 Tì risovvien di chi t'amò,
 Giulia gentil dal bel color.

DONNA.

Giovanottin dal bel color,
 Non vo' saper che sia l'amor,
 Ne mai quel dì verrà che il cuor
 Io schiuda ai palpiti d'amor.
 Giovanottin, credilo a me,
 Non piangerò giammai per te,
 Nè dì verrà, in cui d'amor
 Palpiterà per te il mio cuor.
 Tra la la la, tra la la la,
 Tra la la la, tra la la la!

2.

UOMO.

Soave palpito del cor,
 Immensa gioja egli è l'amor,
 Della fortuna è nel rigor,
 Conforto e speme nel dolor.
 Ah, schiudi, ecc.

DONNA.

Allegra troppo io son così,
 Felice passo e notte e dì,
 Per me il destin non ha rigor,
 Pianto non ha, non ho dolor.
 Giovanottin, ecc.

3.

UOMO.

Dunque sorridimi, o gentil,
 Come sorride un fior d'aprile;
 Unisci o cara, al mio il tuo amor,
 Saran felici i nostri cor.
 Ah, schiudi, ecc.

DONNA.

Forse nascosta in fondo al cuor
 Sta già la fiamma dell'amor,
 Ma se quel dì per me verrà,
 Per te il mio cor non batterà!
 Giovanottin, ecc.

I.

HE.

Oh, Julia fair, with brow of snow,
 What love is like thou dost not know;
 Perchance some day love's voice thou 'lt hear,
 Then wilt thou know his pains so dear.
 Unclose thy heart to love's warm glow,
 Nor thus condemn my life to woe,
 But some sweet pity feel for me,
 Nor see me die for love of thee.
 Then think of him who loves thee so,
 Ah, Julia fair, with brow of snow!

SHE.

Ah, gentle youth, with tawny cheek,
 In vain to me of love you speak,
 Ne'er will you see the day when I
 For any youth with love shall sigh.
 Ah, gentle youth, believe thou me,
 I ne'er shall weep for love of thee;
 Nor ever deem this heart of mine
 Will e'er respond to love of thine.
 Tra la la la, tra la la la,
 Tra la la la, tra la la la.

2.

HE.

There is no joy like love on earth,
 For love in Heaven first had birth;
 Amid all fortune, care, and grief,
 Love brings us comfort and relief.
 Unclose thy heart, etc.

SHE.

Too blest am I, my heart so light,
 I'm joyous still from morn till night;
 Fate has for me nor gloom nor dread,
 And all my tears are yet unshed.
 Ah, gentle youth, etc.

3.

HE.

Then smile on me as smiles the flow'r
 That greets us from its April bow'r;
 Then love unite thy fate with mine,
 Our happiness shall be divine.
 Unclose thy heart, etc.

SHE.

Perchance conceal'd within my heart,
 Of love may lurk the flaming dart;
 But when that day arrives for me,
 This heart will never beat for thee.
 Ah, gentle youth, etc.

My love has gone to live in lovely Lucca,
And there he will become a lord, they tell me,
And now I wish that I could send him greeting,
But I'm afraid my messenger would fail me:
One word a lover speaks will find more favor
Than any messages of love whatever,
One single word from him would more content me
Than fifty thousand that he ever sent me.

2.

They tell me I'm as dark as any brownie,
But where the soil is black, the grain is finest;
And see how darkly the carnation flowers,
Yet in your hand it waves in grace divinest.
Altho' they say my love with dyes is tinted,
He looks to me an angel as they're painted,
Altho' they say he's black as any raven,
He seems to me an angel straight from heaven.

Bella ragazza della treccia bionda,
 Per nome vi chiamate Veneranda:
 Li giovani per voi fanno la ronda.
 Papà non vuole,
 Mammà nemmeno:
 Come faremo
 Per far l'amor?

2.

Venir se voi volete nel giardino,
 Voi troverete, o bella, un tulipano
 Che fatto par pel vostro canestrino.
 Papà non vuole, ecc.

3.

E se mi date un sguardo rubacore,
 Io, bella, proprio a voi lo voglio dare
 Quel fior che tengo e che m'ha dato amore.
 Papà non vuole, ecc.

4.

Poi vi dirò che rosa in primavera
 Non è tanto voi siete tanto cara,
 E voi ci avrete gusto...e buona sera.
 Papà non vuole,
 Mammà nemmeno:
 Così faremo
 Per far l'amor.

THE FLAXEN TRESS.

Oh lovely maiden mine with flaxen tresses,
 The name they call you by is Veneranda,
 The lads all want to pay you their addresses:
 Papa won't hear it,
 Mamma can't bear it:
 Tell me, how can we ever make love?

2.

Come down into the garden when I shall ask it,
 And there you'll find a tulip, oh, my beauty!
 That looks as if it grew for your wee basket:
 Papa, etc.

3.

And if you send me one of your dear glances,
 Ah, then, my only darling, I will give you
 A flow'r that Love gave me, and love enhances:
 Papa, etc.

4.

And I will say to you, In spring's delight, love,
 There's not a rose compares with you in sweetness!
 And that will please your heart — and so good night,
 love!
 Papa won't hear it,
 Mamma can't bear it:
 That is the way that we shall make love!

ER PASSAGALLO.

Quanno Noene l'arca frabbicone,
 Omini e bestie drento fece entrane,
 Ma er corvo, che assordiva le persone,
 L'aria fresca mannò presto a pigliane.
 Er cigno invece co' tutti restone
 E li fece cor canto rallegrane.
 Io qui so er cigno e de cantane ho dritto:
 Tu er corvo, dunque sfarda e statte zitto!

2.

Tu fai dritto lo storto e storto er dritto,
 Ma che cigno non sei lo dirà er fatto.
 Io te disfido a singolar confritto
 E chi ci ascorta dica sì so matto.
 Dimme quar fune de Tarpea er delitto,
 O tu che de sapienza sei lo stratto!
 Dimme che fine fece, e, sì lo sai,
 Dimme sì er gallo a Roma cantò mai.

3.

Tarpea tradi la patria, e ho detto assai;
 Mori la rea sotto li scudi artrui.
 Dichì sì er gallo a Roma cantò mai?
 Per Dio, lo senti coll'orecchi tui!
 Ma sì arza er volo, nun ce so più guai,
 Chè Roma troverà li fiji sui.
 Mo' tu che sei dottore in battilonta,
 Quante le stelle sò, sì poi, racconta.

4.

Dotto nun so, ma la risposta è pronta:
 Rena in der mare nun ce ne sta tanta,
 Quante so stelle; e tu vattele a conta,
 Sì nun credi de crede a chi lo canta,
 Ma che serve de fà chi più ci affronta,
 Quanno de forza avemo tanta e tanta?
 Io lasso er canto e me ne torno ar monte,
 Te do la bona notte e passo ponte.

THE IMPROVVISATORE.

1.

When Father Noah built the ark aforetime,
 He let the beasts in with the men together:
 The raven, tho', who yelled as if 't were wartime,
 He sent out on the roof to watch the weather.
 The swan, however, he gave rather more time,
 For his singing rejoiced them altogether.
 I sing, the swan! my right, who dare deny it?
 The raven you, so get along, and be quiet!

2.

White you call black, sir; black you say is white,
 sir,
 But you are no swan, that I soon will show
 you!
 I dare you here to meet me in fair fight, sir:
 All who hear, let them tell me if I know you!
 Tell me the misdeed of Tarpeia aright, sir,
 For I feel I'm in wisdom far below you!
 Tell me what was her end, and, if you're able,
 Did e'er the cock of Rome crow? is't a fable?

3.

Tarpeia betrayed Rome — that you've comprehended;
 Where she was buried, shields were overflowing;
 And if the cock of Rome to crow pretended?
 If you open your ears, you'll hear him crowing!
 If he should fly off, our sorrows were ended,
 For her children Rome has a way of knowing!
 And now, you scholar in a wig, I'll task you:
 How many stars are in the sky, let me ask you?

4.

I am no scholar, but I know the answer:
 Not in the ocean are the sands as many
 As stars in heav'n; now count them if you can
 sir!
 Tho' you value my singing not a penny!
 But why go on so, and fight man to man, sir,
 When we two are as near alike as any?
 I'll sing no longer, but go home to bed, now,
 And so good-night, and never mind what I've said, now!

 La pace e lo riposo ti dai Dio !
 Fatte la nonna, e la nonna ti canta

 All night and day, and one hour like the other.

 And may the Father repose and comfort bring you !
 Now fall asleep, and a lullaby together
 The Father, Son, and Holy Ghost shall sing you.

 Thou Who didst comfort two women sore afflicted,
 Consoler Thou of Martha and Mary,

 Per la strada trova la banda,
 Egli è amante degli suoni,
 Quando son strumenti buoni:

 Ecco la banda che passa di qua.

A quel suono dolce e grato
 Il Sor Carlo appresso è andato;
 Quando al Popolo è alla porta
 Il Sor Carlo si conforta:
 Mira di qua, mira di là,
 Che bella piazza, che rarità!

3.

Quando fu al Palazzo Fiani,
 Liticarono tre cani;
 Per fuggire il Sor Carlo in fretta
 Inciampò a una chiavichetta,
 Grida soccorso... ohimè pietà!
 I cani in terra lo fecero andà.

THE MUSICAL MASTER CHARLEY.

Master Charley of Holland was straying,
 On the street a band was a-playing;
 Now he loves good music dearly,
 When the tune goes loud and clearly:
 Dzoo na na na! dzoo na na na!
 Here is the band as it passes, hurrah!

2.

While so sweetly the harmonies twined them,
 Master Charley followed behind them;
 Now the People's Gate he reaches,
 And he takes a reef in his breeches:
 See him look here! see him look there!
 O, what a beautiful, beautiful square!

3.

Soon the Palace of Fiani he's sighting,
 And he meets three doggies a-fighting,
 And he runs in such a flutter
 That he stumbles in the gutter,
 Crying for help! Oh, his fine togs!
 Into the gutter he's thrown by the dogs!

1.

Crudele Irene, tu m'hai lasciato,
 Tu m'hai tradito, abbandonato;
 Ma pure credilo, non me ne importa,
 Un'altra bella ritroverò.
 Cento fanciulle di ogni sorta
 A me promettono novello amore:
 Ma, traditrice, ridammi il core
 Che quel tuo sguardo a me rubò.
 Tu piangi... O come io rido! ah! ah!

2.

Irene, credilo, è un sogno matto
 Quel che lasciandomi tu forse hai fatto;
 Pensavi certo ch'io ne morissi,
 Ma di te presto mi scorderò!
 E se tu allora te ne pentissi,
 Io riderei del tuo dolore:
 Ma, traditrice, ridammi il core
 Che quel tuo sguardo a me rubò.
 Tu piangi... O come io rido! ah! ah!

“UNKIND IRENE, WHY HAVE YOU LEFT ME?”

Unkind Irene, why have you left me?
 You have betray'd me, you have bereft me!
 But still, believe me, it does not grieve me,
 For I shall soon win another prize.
 A hundred girls or more, highborn or lowly,
 Will promise new love if I depart now:
 But oh! you false one! return the heart now
 That you have stolen from me with your eyes.
 You are weeping! Oh, how I laugh at you!
 Ha ha!

2.

Irene, surely 'twas a foolish dream you had
 When you forsook me so, maybe a scheme you had;
 You must have thought that I would lay me down
 and die,
 But he'll forget you soon, whom you despise!
 I'll only laugh at you if you are sorry,
 And if you ever try on me your art now!
 But oh! you false one! return the heart now
 That you have stolen from me with your eyes.
 You are weeping, etc.

 Da serbarlo sopra il core.

[:Dammi il core, mio giovinetto,
 La gnicche, ecc.:]
 È gran tempo che l'aspetto.
 Ma del cor che mai farò?

"FENESTA VASCIA.,"

I.

Fenesta vascia e padrona crudele,
 Quanta sospire m'aje fatto jettare!
 M'arde sto core comm'a na cannella,
 Bella a quanno te sento annomenare!
 Oje piglia la sperienza de la neve!
 La neve è fredda e se fa maniare,
 E tu comme si tant'aspra e crudele?
 Muorto mme vide e non mme vuò ajutare?

2.

Vorria arreventare no picciuotto
 Co na lancella a ghire vennenno acqua,
 Pe mme nne i da chiste palazzuotte:
 Belle femmene meje, a chi vò acqua?
 Se vota na nennella da la'ncoppa:
 Chi è sto ninno che va vennenno acqua?
 E io responno co parole accorte:
 So lagrime d'ammore, e non è acqua!

"THE WINDOW LOW."

I.

The window low, the mistress none too kindly!
 How many a sigh they've made me heave between them!
 My heart grows hot as any flaming candle
 When lads will tell my charms and try to win them.
 Ah! take the snow out yonder for a model:
 The snow is cold, for love 't is never grateful;
 There's one who'd see me die, and never save me!
 How can a heart be always hard and hateful?

2.

I wish I could become a handsome laddie,
 And wander thro' the alleys selling water,
 I'd stand below the windows, calling loudly:
 My lovely ladies, ah! who'll have some water?
 Perhaps the fairest maid would turn to scan me:
 Who is this boy who wanders selling water?
 And thereupon I'd give my answer shortly:
 These are the tears of love — it is no water.

 Che mai m'avisse abbandonata,

THE YOUNG NUN.

Oh, I am lonely !
 For I was fifteen only
 When I became a nun.
 I am a girl, and not so homely :
 Am I here because I'm comely ?
 Have I offended ?
 Wherefore a life begun,
 So sadly ended ?

2.

O, I am weary !
 Life is too dull and dreary
 When one is all alone.
 Thou, who didst vow thy bride to make me,
 That thou wouldst nevermore forsake me —
 Ah me, thou traitor !
 Thou wilt not even own
 Thy love, or regret her !

There is a gard'ner's daughter,
 Her name is Luisella,
 From up the Arenella,
 And she's a tease, I know!
 Her garden's full of rosemary,
 No flow'r of sweeter savor:

 Meet me, but you plague me so?:|

Among the neighbors' daughters
 There is not one to match her,
 If I could only catch her,

 And when she feels like flirting,
 She'll wink her eye so clever:

 Meet me, but you plague me so?:|

3.

Her nose is quite bewitching,
 Over a mouth t' entice you,
 Her coral lips rejoice you,
 Whispering sweet and low,
 And on her cheeks red roses
 With white contend for favor:
 |: Luvisè, why can you never
 Meet me, but you plague me so?:|

4.

Her head is neatly rounded
 Golden her hair, and braided
 By Cupid, who persuaded
 Her to her follies, too!
 No morning star will ever
 Shine brighter than her eyes do:

 Meet me, but you plague me so?:|

5.

I'll give you, if you ever
 Marry me, Luisella,
 Fine earrings, so I tell you!
 Rings, and a necklace too.
 I'll buy you a mantilla,
 And love you, dear, for ever:

LA VERA SORRENTINA.

La vedette a Piedigrotta,
 Tutt'a festa era parata,
 Pe guardà la truppa n'frotta,
 Da la mamma accompagnata.
 Na giacchetta aggallonata,
 Na pettiglia ricamata,
 Na gonnella cremmesina,
 E duje uocchie da ncantà..
 E la bella Sorrentina
 La sentette annommenà.

2.

Da chell'ora nn'aggio pace,
 Stongo sempe a sosperare;
 Cchiù la rezza non me piace,
 Cchiù no ntenno lo ppscàre:
 Co la misera varchetta
 A Sorriento nfretta nfretta
 Ogne sera, ogne mmatina
 Vaco lagreme a jettà...
 Ma la sgrata Sorrentina
 Non ha maje da me pietà.

3.

Mme spaventa la tempesta,
 Mme fa affritto la bonaccia,
 Chisto core è sulo nfesta
 Quanno vede chella faccia.
 L'auto juorno, io sbenturato,
 Ca lo mare era ngrossato,
 Mmiezio all'acque de Resina
 Quase stea pe mm'annjà...
 E la sgrata Sorrentina
 Non ha maje de me pietà.

4.

Si non cura cheste pene,
 Quanto cana, tanto bella,
 Voto strada, e do lo bbene
 A quacc'aùta nennella.
 Ma chedè?... vi che sbentura!
 Lampa, e l'aria se fa scura.
 Aggio spersa la banchina...
 La varchetta è p'affonnà...
 Pe tte, sgrata Sorrentina,
 Io me vaco ad affucà!

THE REAL MAID OF SORRENTO.

When we met at Piedigrotta,
 All her fin'ry she was wearing,
 To the army on parade there
 With her mother she was faring
 In a golden-braided jacket,
 An embroider'd waist to match it;
 Brighter eyes I've never seen, ah!
 And of crimson was her gown:
 And the lovely Sorrentina
 She was called in all the town.

2.

Since that hour my peace is banish'd,
 I am always sadly sighing,
 All my love for fishing's vanish'd,
 Idle too my nets are lying.
 In my lonesome boat returning
 Ev'ry evening, ev'ry morning
 I am hasting to my queen, ah!
 Many a tear I there let fall:
 But th' ungrateful Sorrentina
 Never pities me at all!

3.

I am fearful when 'tis stormy,
 When 'tis calm I'm sad and sadder,
 Only with her face before me
 Does my heavy heart leap gladder.
 Not long since, there came a billow—
 I was sailing, wretched fellow,
 In the bay there by Resina—
 Nearly drown'd me in a squall:
 But th' ungrateful Sorrentina
 Never pities me at all!

4.

If she will not hear me kindly,
 She, who's cruel as she's pretty,
 I'll forsake her, and I'll find me
 Other love, another city!
 Ah! how dreadful! Hear the thunder,
 See the lightning flashing yonder!
 Lost in darkness unforeseen, ah!
 Now my boat is sinking down!
 You ungrateful Sorrentina,
 'Tis for you I have to drown!

CAROLINE.

I have seen a maiden slender,
 Graceful, pretty, young, and sprightly,
 With her dark eyes beaming brightly,
 Sweet as sugar, too, is she!
 |: My poor heart I must surrender,
 She enchants me when she's smiling,
 And her glance is so beguiling,
 'Tis like Paradise to me.:|

2.

In the night, alone and weary,
 Thoughts of Caroline come o'er me,
 And in sleep she stands before me
 With a soft, caressing air:
 |: When the dawn is faintly glowing,
 In my bark I'm sadly rowing,
 But so feeble I am growing,
 I've no strength, I do declare!.:|

3.

Caroline, she is so pretty,
 And her voice, it does so please me;
 Then why should she always tease me,
 Causing my poor heart such pain?
 |: Father tells me — more's the pity! —
 While you love, you'll be in trouble!
 At her sight my woes redouble,
 For I feel my hopes are vain.:|

4.

Do you think I am not able?
 Never mind, I shall not fail yet,
 I can buy a dress of velvet
 Any time that you may care:
 |: When we travel to Puzzano,
 Some will say, She's like a fairy!
 And the others, She is very
 Sweet beside those women there!.:|

5.

All my peace of mind has left me,
 Nothing now can give me pleasure;
 I am mourning for my treasure;
 Does she ever think of me?
 |: Since of hope you have bereft me,
 There is naught in life to bind me,
 And some morning you will find me
 Floating dead upon the sea.:|

CANZONE D'I ZAMPOGNARI.

1.

Quanno nascette Ninno a Bettelemme,

Guardavano le pecore li pasture;
 E l'angelo, sbrennente chiù de lu sole,

 E le dicette:
 Nò ve spaventate, nò!
 Contento e riso:
 La terra è arrenventata Paradiso!

SONG OF THE BAGPIPERS.

1.

When Christ our Lord was born at Bethlehem afar,
 Altho' 't was night, there shone as bright as noon
 a star:
 Never so brightly,
 Never so whitely
 Shone the stars, as on that night!
 The brightest star went Away to call the Wise Men from the Orient.

2.

There were no foes on Earth, or warfare blazing,
 Beside the lion then the sheep was grazing,
 Safe by the leopard
 Wander'd the shepherd,
 With the bear the calf did play,
 The wolf so savage
 Would not the tender lamb molest or ravage.

3.

While shepherds in the fields their flocks were tending,
 A shining angel came from heav'n descending;
 When he beheld them,
 Straightway he told them:
 Hear my voice, be not afraid!
 Be glad, rejoice, now,
 For Earth has all become like Paradise, now!

THE FESTIVAL AT PIEDIGROTTA.

I.

I'll go along this year to see Our Lady of Piedigrotta,
 For I shall tease Papa until he'll have to let me go,
 And there'll be Concettella, Cannelletta, Porziunchella,
 That is to say, who can, will go, and one can not say no!
 And shall it then be only I, poor lonely Barbarella,
 Who'll have to stay at home, altho' I'd dearly love to go?

But he will say: “She cannot go, she's yet too young, I tell her;
 The way is long, she is not strong, — she'll do as she is told!”
 But I am strong enough to go and dance the tarantella,
 Clicking the castanets, away we fly, and let him scold!
 So now say yes, and do not make me cry, poor Barbarella!
 Ah! what a young girl wants, she wants far more than one that's old!

 And then, on looking down,
 Two stars I saw, my love!
 Now, my darling, your mother's away,

THE LIPS.

Tell me, tiny bee, O tell me,
 Whither now so early hieing?
 |: There's no mountain-top around us
 Yet in golden sunshine lying; :|
 Still the waving meadows glisten
 All around in pearly splendor:
 |: Have a care, or you will moisten
 Unawares your winglets tender. :|

Ev'rywhere the sleepy flowers
 On their stems are nodding lightly,
 |: Dreaming thro' the early hours
 With green buds all folded tightly. :|
 But the wings bid fair to fail ye!
 Yet still on and on you're flying:
 |: Tell me, tiny bee, O tell me,
 Whither now so early hieing? :|

3.

Seek you honey? If such the case is,
 Fold your wings, no longer tire them,
 |: For I'll show you where a place is
 Stor'd with sweets as you desire them! :|
 Do you know my darling Nici,
 Bright of eye and fair in favor?
 |: 'Tis between her lips I'll teach ye
 Where to find the sweetest flavor. :|

4.

Honey lies 'twixt lips like roses
 Of my own, my only treasure,
 |: Sweeter than on all your posies;
 Suck it, suck it at your pleasure! :|
 Joy herself has made her nest there,
 Nest of sugar most enticing:
 |: Tender heart that wins its quest there,
 On its way, shall go rejoicing. :|

SERENADE.

There is a snake that lives in yonder alley,
 He is abroad by night, by day he's missing,
 Upon the stroke of two he forth will sally,
 Raise up his head, and then you hear him hissing.

And when they hear the snake a love-lay hissing,
 Maidens will run to look, and many are smitten;
 But you, my darling girl, beware his kissing,
 For if you are not careful, you'll be bitten.

3.

And in the alley dwells the sweetest maiden,
 Bright as a star her lovely face is beaming,
 She is so full of charms, my heart they madden,
 As any angel, too, she's pure in seeming.

4.

Oh heav'n! if she were mine, my only treasure!
 If I can only gain her mother's favor,
 There's nothing I'll deny to give her pleasure,
 And I'll fulfil my vow to love her ever.

MALATU P'AMURI.

1.

Taliannuti a lu spissu,
 Sugnu tuttu ammaraggiatu,
 Lu mè sangu 'un è lu stissu
 Comu un gelu è divintatu;
 Cu st'ucchiuzzi ti talu,
 Moru, spasimu e diliru,
 Iu mi sentu 'ntra lu cori
 'Na mancaza di rispiru.

2.

Vinni 'u medicu a osservari
 Li me' affanni e li me' peni,
 Iu mi misi a raccontari
 La caciuni d'unni veni.
 E lu medicu mi dissi:
 Figghiu, lassa sta partita,
 Si ssa donna tu nun lassi
 Poco dura la tò vita.

3.

Iu sintennu ddu parrari
 Cci rispusi a vuci forti:
 A sta donna 'un so lassari,
 Nun mi scantu di la morti;
 Idda stissa lu pò diri
 S'è sinceru lu mè amuri,

 E 'un chiamarmi tradituri!

LOVESICK.

1.

When you often meet my gazes,
 On my senses frenzy seizes,
 Thro' my very blood it races,
 In my veins the current freezes;
 And I stand and look upon you;
 I am raving, fainting, dying!
 Tho' I dreamt my heart had won you,
 I have only breath for sighing.

2.

Now the doctor came to see me,
 In my sorrow and my anguish,
 And I soon began to tell him
 What it was that made me languish.
 Said the doctor, like a prophet:
 O my son, you are but human,
 And your life will be the forfeit
 If you do not leave this woman!

3.

When I heard the doctor's sermon,
 I replied, and told him loudly:
 I can never leave this woman,
 As for Death, I'll meet him proudly!
 Let her tell you, if she care to,
 If a love were ever greater;
 I would sooner die, than dare to
 Live and bear the name of traitor!

VOICES FROM THE GOLDEN AGE OF BEL CANTO

A Collection of Twenty-six Opera-Songs of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries

FROM RARE MANUSCRIPTS AND EARLY PRINTS COLLECTED BY HENRY EDWARD KREHBIEL

EDITED BY MAX SPICKER

ENGLISH TRANSLATIONS BY HENRY G. CHAPMAN AND ISABELLA G. PARKER

The fact that hardly any of the 26 airs which make up this collection of 17th and 18th century opera-songs has ever been printed before gives the volume in question a unique value. Mr. Krehbiel has drawn his material principally from three sources: The Gray Collection, comprising seven books of manuscript copies gathered by the poet Gray when he visited Italy in 1740, and containing operatic airs by the composers who were the chief glory of the Italian schools of the 18th century; a collection of manuscript music made by Mr. Krehbiel himself and intended to represent operatic music of all schools and periods, from the invention of the art-form by the 16th century Florentine reformers down to works still staged at the beginning of the 19th century; and, lastly, excerpts from operas reprinted by learned men or societies because of their artistic or historical value.

In keeping with the nature of its contents, Voices from the Golden Age of Bel Canto is one of the handsomest specimens of typography the Schirmer Press can show. There is no detail whose relation to the general scheme of the work has not been carefully studied; artistic decorative touches and de luxe paper seeming but a natural sequence of the rare charm of the beautiful old melodies themselves—echoes of a day long past which, imprisoned in the time-yellowed parchment of forgotten prints, have been released once more for the pleasure of discerning music-lovers.
